Triple Cross is a suspenseful tale of spies and secrets. It is also a deeply human story of a naïve young man's crusade to expose Israel's nuclear weapons program in the hope his actions would bring peace. One night in September 1985, Mordechai Vanunu, a technician working alone six floors underground in Israel's Dimona nuclear reactor, pulled a camera from his shoulder bag and calmly proceeded to document Israel's secret manufacture of atomic bombs. A year later, the pictures were splashed across the front page of the Sunday Times of London. Triple Cross is the true story of Vanunu's expose: why he did it, how he did it, and why it represented one of the most serious breaches of security in Israel's history.
