Two women, connected by prayer and a plot of land in the untamed mountains of southern Wyoming but divided by a hundred years - In 1902, mail order bride Andriette Jameson arrives at her new home, a dirt floor cabin deep in the forest of the Sierra Madre Mountains. Experiencing the height of the Grand Encampment copper boom, she strives to face each day with prayer and determination to make a life that honors God. The 21st century has dumped trouble on Hannah Harding from every direction. A solitary vacation at a cabin on an old mining claim in the wilderness seems like a great way to escape her worries. When danger arrives and she has to run for her life, Hannah learns just how far in miles and time God's love reaches. Will God answer prayers that are a hundred years old?
