Two sisters, Kimberly Crabb & April Paine, see the addition of the second child a little differently than your negative neighbor: Your new arrival is nothing less than an adventure! Come along with them as they share all of the helpful advice gathered during their own parenting journeys. They've been there. Both sisters are mothers of two children each and happen to be 17 months apart too. They're not experts--and neither was their mother-- but they've been in the trenches and have plenty of friends who have been, too. The book includes advice from real moms with a variety of tips for making a smooth transition from one to two. A second baby is a joy to be celebrated! Pick up a copy of this positive guide today.
